Within two or three weeks the District will lose some valuable property on First Street and North Capitol Street, in the vicinity of the site of the new Union Station plaza, which has been acquired by purchase or condem-nation, as it was known that the land which is occupied by the buildings would be needed in the construction of the plaza and the laying out of a new property will assemble and make their bids for the material.

It will be left to the successful bidders to determine in what manner the houses are to be torn down and the material removed, but it will be understood that the matter of chief importance will be to clear off as soon as possible the space occupied by the structures, in order to allow the uninterrupted progress of the work on the First Street tunnel, which has already begun.

The structures referred to are a stable, a storage warchouse and two two-story brick dwelling houses.

Although the District derived a considerable sum from renting these buildings from the time they were purchased until a few weeks ago, the tenants have been ousted.

The warehouse on E Street is still partially filled with materials stored there by the House of Representatives management, by whom the building was rented prior to its being acquired by the District. After the District bought the property, the lease with the Government was continued until it should become necessary to tear it down. In a few days, therefore, the materials will have to be hauled away.

is understood that the Baltimore and Onio Railroad officers will tear down the brick houses on First Street within a week or two. It was on this account that Assistant District Engineer Charles Fernald recommended to the issioners that the District at once take steps to demolish the houses it owns in the same neighborhood. He ex-

It is not thought that the District will receive much compensation for the houses that are to be demolished and removed. It is imperative, however, to have the work done as soon as possible.

The Paris men of the Vespers are Harry De Baecke, Roscoe Lockwood, and John Geiger, Harry Hoffman will row at 5, while McClenaghan, Hartman, Latimer, and O'Brien will occupy the bow of the boat. This crew should make a fine record.

The positions of the Vesper men in the Labor Day eight are as follows: O'Brien, bow; Latimer, 2; Hartman, 3; McClenaghan, 4; Hoffman, 5; Geiger, 6; manual labor is eligible under Henley rules.

The history of the Argonaut crew may not have been looked into very closely, but the Argonauts are English subjects, while the Vespers are not, and that might make some difference. That sturdy band of Vespers in surely not all made up of ribbon clerks and gentlemen of leisure. If it's racing they want they will find enough of it on this side of the water, where their presence will be well-created.
